

Stephen Mabey is a Chartered Accountant with over twenty-five years of leadership in the professional services environment. Stephen combines his strong financial understanding of professional services firms in all areas including partner compensation, capital structures, key performance indicators and credit facilities with a unique combination of experiences in business development, human resources, marketing, risk management and facility management.

Stephen consults only with law firms outside of Atlantic Canada in a variety of areas of law firm management including talent management, financial analysis, strategic planning and firm governance, administrative structures, complement planning, coaching and crisis management. He authors a monthly column for Canadian Lawyer magazine, on topics such as lawyer engagement, leadership, business intelligence, firm values, compensation systems, firm cultures, firm finances, marketing, emotional intelligence and talent management. In addition to his consulting practice Stephen has a long-term contract to provide senior management to a large Atlantic Canada law firm

Steve graduated from Saint Mary's University in 1975 and obtained his CA in 1977. He is married with five children and three grandchildren in Boston MA and London UK and lives in Nova Scotia, Canada.